

Ancona was stopped by the British at Gibraltar and twenty-four Germans and one Austrian were taken off the ship. Late last summer the Ancona left here for Italy with 75,000 bushels of wheat, 2,000 tons of hay, and 500 horses for the Italian government.

On the same voyage it carried 200 Italians in the steerage, who went back because it was said at the time they could not get work on the New York subway. All of its officers, engine room force, and members of the crew were Italians who shipped from Italy.

PLAYED PART IN RESCUE.
The Ancona played a prominent part in the rescue of passengers from the burning Fabre liner Saint Anna in mid-Atlantic on Sept. 12. It came to the Saint Anna's aid and took off more than 900 passengers.

The Saint Anna carried more than 2,000 passengers; but succeeded in checking the fire and proceeded to the Ancona without further assistance from the Ancona.

NEWS STILES WASHINGTON.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—News of the sinking of the Ancona caused a sensation here tonight, as it was regarded as foreshadowing a new controversy between the United States and Austria similar to the crisis dispute with Germany that followed the torpedoing of the Lusitania. Before making any comment, however, officials awaited information on two points—whether the vessel was torpedoed without warning and whether any Americans were among the victims.

Should it develop that the Ancona was warned and ignored it and attempted to escape, the rules of naval warfare, according to the Washington government's view, justified the use of force.

MAY DEMAND DISAVOWAL.
If the Ancona was attacked without warning and a case paralleling the Lusitania develops the attitude of the United States probably will be along the lines already followed with Germany—the dispatch of a note demanding disavowal of the act, reparation, and assurance that such incidents will not occur in the future.

Officially Austria has never given the United States notice that she regarded the waters of the Mediterranean surrounding Italy as blockaded or that her submarines would torpedo merchant vessels without warning.

U. S. POSITION ESTABLISHED.
This fact raises in the minds of some officials the point as to how far the negotiations and exchange of notes between the United States and Germany morally found the Teutonic allies. It was recalled tonight that Dr. Dumba, then the Austro-Hungarian ambassador here, participated in some of the informal conversations with Secretary Bryan subsequent to the sinking of the Lusitania, and became thoroughly familiar with the American position.

Just how far such notification as Ambassador Dumba may have given his foreign office on the negotiations between the United States and Germany may affect the present situation is conjectural.

INQUIRY IS FIRST STEP.
In its negotiations thus far with the belligerents, the American government has dealt principally with Great Britain for the entente nations and with Germany in regard to some matters at least for the Teutonic allies.

Should later dispatches indicate that the Ancona was torpedoed without warning and that Americans aboard it lost their lives, the first step would be a note of inquiry to Ambassador Felfeld at Vienna to learn the facts from the Austrian government.

STEAMER DACIA SUNK.
ALGERS, Algeria, Nov. 9.—The French steamer Dacia, formerly known as the Dacia, which was seized by a French cruiser last February while carrying a cargo of cotton from the United States to Germany, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The passengers and crew were saved. The news of the sinking of the Dacia was contained in an official announcement made public here today.

The Dacia formerly belonged to the Hamburg-American line. After the outbreak of hostilities it was purchased by Edward N. Brettling and changed its registry and became an American ship. Laden with cotton destined for Germany it was on its way from the United States to Rotterdam when it was picked up by a French cruiser last February and taken into Brest.

The seizure of the vessel later was confirmed by a prize court and the cargo of cotton was purchased through a special appropriation. In August the Dacia was sold through the prize court and its new French owner retained it the year.

British Boat Goes Down.
LONDON, Nov. 9.—The steamer Irene, employed by the Trinity House corporation in connection with lighthouse and pilotage work, has been sunk. Thirty-five of the crew are missing.

The Daily Mail's Copenhagen correspondent learns that a British submarine torpedoed the German steamship Cordelia, bound from Emden for Karlskrona, yesterday.

RECORD OF TORPEDOES.
The vessels on which American lives and property have been lost or destroyed through German submarine follow:

WILLIAM P. FRYE, United States, Jan. 27, shelled and sunk. Germany admitted liability and offered to pay value fixed by German prize court. United States rejected prize court idea, saying treaty had been violated, and demanding direct settlement. Negotiations still under way, nearing agreement on direct settlement.

EVELYN, United States, Feb. 19; one American lost; sunk by mine. Germany said the ship was off the prescribed course and hit mine through that neglect. Agreed to pay by America.

CARIE, United States, Feb. 22; three Americans lost; sunk by mine. Germany said the ship was off the prescribed course and hit mine through that neglect. Agreed to pay by America.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY IN EUROPE'S BIG WAR

The German cruiser Emden, which had destroyed many British merchantmen, was driven ashore and burned at North Keeling island in the Bay of Bengal by the Australian cruiser Sydney.

Berlin claimed a severe Russian defeat on the East Prussian border. Gen. Beyer's rebel forces were defeated by Union of South Africa troops under Gen. Lammer.

Americans lost; sunk by mine. Same declaration by Germany and agreement by America as in case of Evelyn.

FALABA, British, March 23; one American and 111 others lost; sunk by torpedo. Germany declared Falaba tried to escape and call aid, violating war rules. American reply contained in Lusitania note.

GREENBRIER, United States, April 13; sunk by torpedo. Germany said it was regrettable error and offered to make reparation. Agreed to, but kind and amount of reparation is still at issue.

CUSHING, United States, April 28, torpedoed by aeroplane. Germany said it was regrettable error and offered to make reparation. Agreed to, but kind and amount of reparation is still at issue.

GULFPORT, United States, May 1; three Americans lost; torpedoed. Germany said it was regrettable error and offered to make reparation. Agreed to, but kind and amount of reparation is still at issue.

LUSITANIA, British, May 12, 115 Americans and 1,141 others lost. Sunk by torpedo. Germany declared ship carried concealed guns and gunners, Canadian troops, and munitions of war, including 5,400 cases of ammunition, that passengers were warned by German embassy, and that if ship had not been sunk its cargo would have been used to kill German soldiers. America's position declared to be that sea is free; that neutrals have indisputable right to travel anywhere on any merchantman while on their legitimate business; ship did not carry the munitions or soldiers charged; that German action violated treaties and laws of nations and of humanity. Negotiations still at issue.

NEBRASKAN, United States, May 26; torpedoed. Germany called it an unfortunate error because the ship carried no neutral marks, and offered reparation, kind and amount not stated. This is still to be decided. United States has named no specific position taken on Nebraskan, listing it as one covered by treaty of July 21 declaring that any more such acts would be regarded as arising from deliberate unfriendliness.

ARMENIAN, Canadian, June 20; twenty-three Americans in crew lost; torpedoed. Germany said ship was on British admiralty list. Agreed to by America.

ANGLO-CALIFORNIA, British, July 5; two Americans and seven others lost; torpedoed and shelled. It ran away and would not heed orders to stop, disobeying war rules. Agreed to.

LEELANAW, United States, July 25; torpedoed and shelled. Germany said it carried contraband. America demanded full pay for ship. Issue still undecided.

IBERIAN, British, July 31; three Americans and three others lost; torpedoed and shelled. Germany said it was in British service. Issue still undecided.

ARABIC, British, Aug. 19; two Americans and eighteen others missing; torpedoed.

QUENCH ROCHAMBEAU, French, July 21; the ship in the hold of the passenger steamship Rochambeau, which started after the Wayfarer left here last Saturday, has been extinguished and the steamship is proceeding to Bordeaux.

FRANCE TO SPEND BILLION IN U. S. FOR INDUSTRIES.

Commission Arrives to Pave Way for Business and Agricultural Revival Following the War.

New York, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—France is to spend a billion dollars or more in the United States in the reconstruction of her industries destroyed or crippled by the war, according to members of the French commercial industrial mission, who arrived here today on the steamship Lafayette. None of the money will go for munitions; all will be spent for agricultural, industrial, and commercial materials.

While the mission will not do any purchasing, it will make arrangements for purchases so that shipments may be started as soon as there is definite indication of approaching peace.

Maurice Darnot, secretary of the committee of appropriations of the French chamber of deputies and former consul general at New Orleans, who heads the mission, said a reporter that the industrial purchases contemplated would far surpass those of munitions.

"Our war on Germany will not end with the cessation of hostilities," he said, "for we are going to wage a terrific commercial war against our enemy."

INFANTRY RESTS ON WEST FRONT

Big Guns Active; Paris Says Champagne Drive Was to Boost German Morale.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight covering operations on the western front:

Artillery actions took place on a great part of the front, particularly on the plateau of Novvrou, where we concentrated an effective fire on the enemy organizations.

In Champagne the cannonading has again been violent on both sides in the region of the Ture and the Butte Du Meuil.

In the Vosges, to the south of Louche, our trench guns demolished a blockhouse and shelters of the enemy.

Kaiser Not at Champagne.
Emperor William was not a spectator of the recent German counter offensive in the Champagne, but it was announced that he was at Sedan awaiting news of the capture of the ground lost in these fighting zones by the Germans in October, according to prisoners captured by the French at Ture.

The meager results obtained in the German counter offensive have raised the question among military experts in France as to why and how the action was fought. From the most reliable sources available the Germans and their objects in view. To repeat the blow in the presence of the staff resulting from the lack of success of the counter attacks in October; to raise the spirits of the troops, discouraged by defeat; and to retain on the western front the greatest possible number of French troops during the Teutonic advance against Serbia.

Effort to Cheer German.
The staff decided upon an offensive over a notably wide front directly after the affair of the Courtine works on Oct. 25, in which the French advanced 150 yards, took 267 prisoners, and put 400 men, killed or wounded, out of action. Passive resistance in the face of such success is declared to be a demoralizing effect on the Germans.

PARLIAMENT TO DISCUSS HUGE WAR EXPENSES TODAY.

Asquith to Ask Additional Billions and Half or More; Public Is Anxious.

LONDON, Nov. 10, 2:30 a. m.—The serious financial situation will be the subject of debate in both houses of parliament today, according to the Daily Telegraph. Premier Asquith will ask for an increased vote of credit of £300,000,000 (£1,500,000,000) or £350,000,000 (£1,750,000,000) and will make an important speech dealing comprehensively with the financial aspects of the war, while in the house of lords several prominent members are expected to support a motion by Viscount Peel inciting the government to exercise a more effective supervision over naval and military expenditures.

The constantly increasing war expenditure, which is nearing £46,000,000 (£30,000,000) daily, is beginning to create anxiety in the public mind, and much is heard in the press and in public discussion about the waste prevalent in every department in war expenditure.

300,000 ALLIES RUSH TO AID OF CRUSHED SERBS

Peter's Men Resort to Guerrilla Warfare to Hold Back Foes; French Win in South.

BULLETIN.
LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Geneva Tribune's Bucharest correspondent telegraphs to his paper that 60,000 Albanians are preparing, at German instigation, to attack the Serbians from the rear, in the regions of Monastir and Pristina.

German-Bulgarian advances in Serbia are offset to some extent by the victories of the allies against King Ferdinand's troops in the south. This latter theater of operations in the Balkans probably will see some terrific fighting within the next few days, as it is reported from German sources that 300,000 Anglo-French troops already have been landed at Saloniki. These men are being rushed north as fast as trains can carry them.

The Montenegrins appear to have checked all Austrian advances. Radoslaw, the Bulgarian premier, has warned Greece that his country regards Greece's permission of the landing of troops of the allies at Saloniki as a breach of neutrality.

ALLIES CROWD SALONIKI.
LONDON, Nov. 9.—Newspapers of Berlin, as quoted by the correspondent at Copenhagen of the Exchange Telegraph company, say that the allies already have landed 300,000 men at Saloniki. These are being sent north rapidly.

More Serb Points Fall.
BERLIN, Nov. 9.—By wireless to Bayville.—Capture by the Germans of the main Serbian positions south of Kraljevo was announced today by army headquarters.

The text of today's German official statement concerning the Balkan campaign follows:

South of Kraljevo and southwest of Krusevac the enemy has been driven out of his rear guard positions. Our troops are continuing the advance. The heights near Gjynja, on the left bank of the Morava, were stormed.

The booty taken at Krusevac was increased about fifty cannon, including ten heavy pieces. The number of prisoners was increased to 7,000.

The army of Gen. Boyadjeff (Bulgarian) on the evening of Nov. 7 reached the Morava at a point northwest of Aleksandria, which is to the northwest of Nish. Southwest of Nish, in conjunction with other Bulgarian troops advancing from the south, this army has taken Leskovac.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Serious fighting has started in the Bulgarian army and outposts have occurred in many cities. It is stated in a telegram from Bucharest today:

Important artillery engagements occurred along the entire front on Nov. 7. The enemy threw forward his infantry in attacks at various points without attaining success.

Mutiny in Bulgaria?
PARIS, Nov. 9.—Serious mutiny has started in the Bulgarian army and outposts have occurred in many cities. It is stated in a telegram from Bucharest today:

At Biogradchik a whole battalion which had refused to go to the front was disarmed and half the soldiers were executed. At Philippopolis, Kustendil, and Varna there have been similar defections. Many officers, as well as soldiers, have been shot for refusing to fight against the Serbs.

Italy May Send Troops.
ROME, via Paris, Nov. 9.—What appears to be a forecast that Italy will send troops to Albania, to aid the Serbs is contained in a semi-official note, which says that while Italy did not participate in the recent expedition of the allies to assist Serbia it has found a better way to oppose the Austro-German-Bulgarian attack upon Serbia.

This way, the note says, was opened by the Bulgarians themselves when they threatened to invade Albania to reach the Adriatic, a design so dangerous to Italy's interests that "the mere threat must oblige Italy to take appropriate measures to frustrate it immediately."

Spill First British Blood.
SALONIKI, Nov. 9.—The Anglo-French advance on Strumitsa from the south is proceeding slowly. The first British blood was spilled on Saturday.

The Bulgarians continue their costly but fruitless attacks against the French, who hold an entrenched position at Krivolak.

The French left wing stormed a Bulgarian artillery position on Weger Height, 4,000 feet in altitude, nullifying the Bulgarian effort to pass Babuna defile. The French then formed a junction with the Serbs at Phares, completing an unbroken line from Pripe, Gradsko, and Krivolak to Dorobolo on the Bulgarian frontier.

GERMAN LOSSES IN WEST.
Latest Lists Place Number of Dead, Wounded, or Missing at 96,551, Says Dispatch.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Daily Mail's Copenhagen correspondent reports that the latest official German casualty lists contain the names of 96,551 Prussians killed, wounded or missing. These losses are said to be mainly due to the allies' offensive on the western front at the end of September.

HISTORY OF ORIENTAL RUGS.
Southwest Asia, of which Armenia is a part, has ideal rug-making conditions. The rugs used are raised on sheep penicillar to that locality. The antique process of carding, drying and preparing wool for the looms has been handed down for centuries. Primitive though it is, there is no better way known, as evidenced in the "feel" and lustre of the finished oriental rug. Silk, camel's hair, cotton, and goat's wool are also frequently used.

Because of the unprecedented scarcity of high grade Oriental Rugs, in this country today, these items in ROOM SIZE ORIENTAL RUGS are of unusual interest.

BULGARIA WARNS GREECE ABOUT ALLIES' LANDING

Offended by Disembarkment of Troops at Saloniki; Paris Gets Friendly Note.

LONDON, Nov. 10, 2:45 a. m.
—A decree dissolving the Greek chamber will be published on Wednesday, according to an Athens dispatch to the Daily Chronicle.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The Temps prints a dispatch from Saloniki, in which Premier Radoslawoff of Bulgaria is quoted by the Sofia correspondent of the Press-Herald of Budapest, Hungary, as declaring:

"The Greek government now has been warned that it cannot hold the Bulgarian government responsible for the consequences of its future attitude."

This notification, according to the correspondent, followed representations made by the premier, M. Naoum, Greek minister to Bulgaria.

Premier Radoslawoff, the correspondent declares, regards the facilities accorded for the disembarkment of allied troops at Saloniki as incompatible with Greek neutrality, and has informed Minister Naoum to this effect.

Greece Sends Amicable Note.
PARIS, Nov. 9.—The French government received today from Premier Skouloudis, head of the new Greek cabinet, formal assurance of "our neutrality with the character of sincere benevolence toward the entente powers."

The telegram follows: "Please give to the president of the council the most formal assurance on my part of our firm resolution to continue our neutrality, with the character of the sincerest benevolence toward the entente powers."

"Please add that the new cabinet accepts as its own the declaration of former Premier Zaimis regarding the friendly attitude of the royal government as to the allied troops at Saloniki."

Ask Allies for Loan.
The Greek government is reported to have appealed to the allies for further financial assistance. A dispatch from Athens to the Havas news agency says the government desires to obtain an additional advance of $3,000,000 and that this request is being considered sympathetically.

MUNDAY PARRIES QUESTIONING ON BANKING DEALS

Defendant in Conspiracy Suit and Prosecutor Engage in Contest of Wits.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Mundays, Ill., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—For six hours in the Circuit court here today C. R. Munday occupied the witness stand in his own trial on charges of conspiracy and engaged in verbal fencing with Assistant State's Attorney Raber, who was cross-examining him regarding the affairs of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank and allied Lorimer-Munday-Rutledge enterprises. The match was a test of endurance, Munday trying to deal with the affairs of the various enterprises in a general way, while the prosecuting attorney struggled to pin him down to specific transactions.

For the first four hours of the contest Munday had the better of the struggle. During the last two hours he was no longer able to evade the questions put to him regarding specific incidents. Whenever he fell back on a weak memory the prosecution produced books and papers to refresh his recollection.

Loans to Lorimer Associates.
The prosecution finally drove in its first wedge with an enumeration of loans the bank made to political associates of William Lorimer. Munday was asked specifically regarding loans to the following:

Thomas Paynter, formerly United States senator from Kentucky, who fought against Lorimer's exclusion from the senate.

A. J. Carey, colored minister and politician, and now an investigator for the Chicago corporation counsel's office.

Chester W. Church, member of state legislature.

Peter Barzen, one time chairman of the Cook county board.

John Cooke, Lorimer political henchman.

August W. (Fire Escape Gus) Noble, Lorimer supporter.

David L. Frank, ward politician and Lorimer ally.

A. J. Harris, politician.

Munday replied evasively to questions regarding these loans, admitting in some cases that he knew the borrowers were Lorimer's political friends and in others pleading ignorance. At critical junctures his memory failed.

How Lorimer Covered Debts.
The real break came when Raber introduced the affairs of the Southern Traction company into the examination, beginning with the sale of Southern Traction bonds to the bank to cover Lorimer overdrafts.

"Didn't you cover overdrafts for Lorimer, members of the family, and his enterprises with Southern Traction bonds?" Raber asked.

"Yes," Munday replied.

Q—Did you talk to Lorimer regarding these overdrafts and the way in which they could be covered? A—No. I used those bonds to protect the bank with collateral held by the Lorimer-Gallagher company, which was putting money into the construction of the traction line.

Q—Was Mrs. William Lorimer Jr. putting her money into the Southern Traction? A—No.

Q—Did she own any Southern Traction bonds? A—No.

Q—Then why did you place bonds to her credit in order to cover overdrafts? A—O, it was all in the family. I was trying to protect the bank and was willing to let them fight it out among themselves.

Munday Defends "Check Kitting."
What the prosecution called a "check kitting" is the regular practice of all banks, according to Munday.

"Didn't you pay for La Salle bank stock with a kitted check?" Raber asked.

"What is a kitted check?" Munday asked in return.

"I'll tell you," Raber said. "A man draws a check against a bank in which he has no money. To meet that check he gives the first bank a check against a second bank in which he has no money, and so on indefinitely. By and by the chain of checks gets around to the first bank and then it has to be started all over again."

"Every bank does business in that way," Munday replied.

How He Bought Bank Stock.
Munday admitted that 1726 of his shares in the La Salle were bought as collateral for loans. He said he bought $250,000 worth of stock to protect the bank when the stock was offered for sale.

"You took money from the bank to buy stock for the bank?" Raber asked.

"Yes," Munday replied.

Q—Then why wasn't the stock listed for the bank? A—Because that would have hurt the bank.

Q—Where is that stock now? A—In Chicago.

Q—Why haven't you given it to William C. Niblack, receiver for the bank? A—Niblack said it wasn't worth anything.

At every opportunity Munday introduced into his testimony his charge of persecution on the part of the newspapers and business interests of Chicago. He was particularly bitter against the Chicago Clearing House association.

LOEB TO STAND FIRM FOR RULE

Teachers' Federation Foes Assert New Members Can't Repeal Order.

Any attempt to repeal the Loeb rule against the Teachers' federation by the board of education will be fought to the last ditch by Trustee Jacob M. Loeb, father of the rule, and his associates on the board. It was announced last night. The three new members confirmed by the council Monday night likely will take their seats this afternoon. Regardless of how the new members vote, it is claimed by Loeb adherents they will be able to block repeal of the rule. It takes eleven votes to repeal the rule. Mr. Loeb made this statement:

"My policy has not changed in the slightest and it will not change, regardless of council orders or any other orders. I am standing for a principle. That principle is enduring with me so long as I live."

May Send Names Back.
Mayor Thompson told the Rev. J. P. Brushingham and A. Sheldon Clark, who were turned down by the council, that if they will stick he will send their names back to the council next Monday night and continue sending in the names indefinitely or until the council sees fit to approve them. It developed that Mr. Clark had asked the mayor to withdraw his name before Monday night's fray, but the mayor insisted on his standing pat.

Talk of Council Blocs.
City hall partisans began talking alternative campaigns and one thing decided on was that every available influence would be used against both Ald. A. A. McCormick and Charles E. Merriam when they came up for reelection. They will be charged with having joined hands with the "wets" in defeating the school board appointees because of political animosity.

Friends of Loeb stated they will begin the campaign against the two aldermen.

Fifty "Deah" Little Cats Put Out Into Cold Street

What would you think of a rough-neck balling who would invade a feline breeder's and throw fifty of the furry prize winners out into the street when three of the "deah" cats had names like Mock Orange, Lady Bloom's Daughter, and Dan Cupid.

But that's just what Morris Wilson and Charles Cadek, deputy balliffs of the Circuit court, did when they called officially on Misses Anna and Isabelle Patton, "Free Cat Lovers," to carry out the order of Judge Baldwin that fifty Persians, Angoras, or any old Toms be ejected from their habitat at 789 Kenwood avenue.

The Misses Patton were permitted to breed their treasures in their basement until their house was taken over by Receiver Otto W. Peterson. He demanded that the cats be chased out so he could get some tenants. And the cats proceeded to help him out at noon yesterday.

Troubles of Balliffs Begin.
Starting as many cats as possible on each load, Wilson and Cadek began rushing the felines out into the street. But Mock Orange no sooner got out into the parkway than she was back in the house. "Get that cat!" the balliffs shouted. But the other cats took Mock's tip and dashed for the basement.

"O, my poor cat! My cat!" moaned one of the grief-stricken owners with as much feeling as the old Shylcock cry for his ducks as the balliffs began to box the cats out of the house. In the midst of the confusion the James Madison school, a block away, let out, and crowds of children galloped over to view the ceremony.

The curiosity of the youngsters roused the wrath of the women and Miss Anna opened up fire with the garden hose to disperse the pibians.

"They talk about my vinger cats," she said, indignantly. "Why, I'd like to know what pretty girl wouldn't a heap rather put her arms around one of my dears than that dirty, whiskered Receiver Peterson?"

"And our Christian neighbors," interposed Isabelle, "have possessed more than fifteen of our prize cats in the last three weeks by throwing dopes through the windows. O, it is too much!"

Neighbor Calls Police Too Late.
When the excitement was at its height a neighbor turned in a call for the police. When the policemen arrived, however, they found no one but the much upset balliffs.

At 4 o'clock every one believed that the cats had been whisked off to another section of the city, but presto! in three windows a beautiful long tailed "something or other" was rubbing its back.

"O, yes, we have always loved animals," said Miss Patton. "On our farm we have prize horses, dogs, and cats. Some of my cats have taken first ribbons at the biggest cat shows. Lady Solomon's Daughter won out in an awfully close competition match."

When the women were asked where the cats had been put they replied that twenty-six of them had been dumped out into the street. There was a cat in the house, they said.

Not a cat could be seen on the street, however. The only "pussey" that was visible very close to the windows. One of the most aristocratic ran out into the hallway to greet the reporter, but Anna seized it by the neck and checked it inside.

HIGH COST OF MOSQUITOES.
Estimate of Clearing New York City of Pests Placed at $385,000 by State Board of Health.

New York, Nov. 9.—It would cost New York City $385,000 to kill off the mosquitoes within its boundaries, according to an estimate of the state board of health submitted at a public hearing today of the public health council, which is considering methods of ridding the city of the pests.

Judge Landis Goes to Freeport.

SOUTH, WITH GAG, RULES CONGRESS, NATION IS TOLD

Voters' League Alleges Manipulation by Democrats to Thwart Will of People.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—A scathing arraignment of the secret manipulation of legislation and of the disfranchisement of minority members of congress under the Wilson regime was issued today by the National Voters' League.

In a volume entitled "Your Congress" Lynn Haines, secretary of the league, exposes the underground methods by which the "party" traitors and apologetic politicians start the expression of the will of the people and pervert legislation to selfish purposes.

That the Democrats gained control of the house in 1910, the league's analysis shows that the process of secret legislation and machine domination were not perfected until after the Wilson administration came into power in 1913.

National News Suppressed.

The president's suppression of information in the executive departments has been equaled only by the use of the secret party caucus in congress to another popular measure and force presidential legislation through the house and senate, the book says.

That the "south is in the saddle" under the Wilson administration is demonstrated by Mr. Haines. The Democratic caucus, which controls legislation, is dominated by half a dozen southern Democrats, who cooperate with Mr. Wilson in carrying out the presidential will and important committees of the house which frame legislative measures behind closed doors in accordance with the dictates of the secret caucus are controlled by Democratic leaders from Alabama, Texas, Virginia, Georgia, Maryland, Oklahoma, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Florida, Mr. Haines charges.

Shows Rule of Small Majority.
Taking the last congress as an illustration, Mr. Haines shows that the action of the 441 members of the house was determined by the 201 Democrats who were in turn determined by the 146 members, at the most, constituting the majority of their caucus, though in most cases the majority was materially smaller.

"So far as the determining power is concerned," Mr. Haines says, "a majority of the majority, or 74 Democrats at the most, dictated the action of a body of 435 members. In the case of the currency legislation the caucus was controlled by eight members of the banking committee and the house bowed to their will."

"By applying the vicious principle of rule through a majority of the majority; that is the exclusion of all minority members at every stage—in standing committees the caucus and conference committees the caucus has become omnipotent in all matters where the caucus acts. Those without the caucus have little more voice in legislation than as if never elected to congress. This means that every district not represented by a member of the majority party is practically without representation."

North Has No Voice.
The league presents a disfranchisement chart which shows that under the Wilson regime more than 90 per cent of the population living north of Mason and Dixon's line have been deprived of a voice in the shaping of legislation for the nation.

The Republicans are girding themselves for stubborn resistance to the repressive tactics of the Wilson organization.

Purple Wins at 'Phone Football

Lake Forest Unable to Solve Long Distance Attack of Northwestern

By G. W. AXELSON

Brawn and some telephone conversation helped to snow under the Lake Forest eleven at Northwestern field. The Purple furnished the muscle and Coach Murphy paid the tolls for the long distance strategy, creating an innovation in gridiron battles. Planting himself in a coop on the top of the west stand, the coach directed the battle, by wire, to Captain Hightower on the side-lines, with the result that Northwestern rooters now claim a championship eleven. —Chicago Herald.

CHICAGO WOMEN WILL BE RIVALS FOR CLUB POST

Sherman and Mrs. Bass in Race for Presidency of General Federation.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. George Bass, Chicago women, are to be opponents in the race for national president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The race was practically assured by the opening day of the biennial convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Sherman will run with the endorsement of the state body. Mrs. Bass will run without it, according to her friends. Mrs. Bass refused to say that she would run. Neither would she deny it.

"All I will say," she asserted, "is that Mrs. Sherman's name was presented to the convention for endorsement I intended to permit my friends to present my name."

Political Moves Are Unexpected.
The dazzling political moves almost took the convention off its feet with their unexpectedness. The first, engineered by Mrs. Francis D. Everett of Highland Park, was the endorsement of Mrs. Sherman by the convention, said to be an unprecedented thing. The second was the endorsement of a policy favoring national woman suffrage, coming after the chairmen of the resolutions committee had stated that suffrage was not to come up for action.

The suffrage question arose in the report of Mrs. A. E. Walker, chairman of the legislative department.
"The national legislative committee want to know how Illinois stands on the question of the national enfranchisement of women," Mrs. Walker read.
"Will you make a recommendation?" Mrs. Charles H. Zimmerman, president of the federation, suggested. There was some discussion of the matter.

Motion Passed in a Hurry.
After a moment a woman from a country district moved that the federation endorse a constitutional amendment giving national woman suffrage. There was a wondrous motion and in a few seconds the vote had been taken and the motion carried by a large majority, although there were numerous dissenters.

The endorsement of Mrs. Sherman came with the same suddenness. Mrs. Zimmerman called Mrs. Everett to the platform. Without any introduction Mrs. Everett began a eulogy of Mrs. Sherman.
"She is a true gentleness," Mrs. Everett said. "She is an executive, has an organized mind, is conscientious, is highly efficient, a recognized authority on legislative law, was responsible for the creation of the Rocky Mountain National park; has a firm hand but a kind heart, and Illinois will do itself an honor by presenting her name."

Mrs. Sherman quickly endorsed. The motion was quickly seconded, cries for the vote were heard, and without any dissent a rising vote was taken. The endorsement was almost unanimous. Mrs. Bass remained seated, as did Mrs. Robert McCall, and a few other Chicago women. Later when there was a motion to send Mrs. Sherman, who is in Colorado, a telegram regarding the action there were numerous dissenters. The women who had been swept off their feet by the quick action complained that a political ruse had been perpetrated.

Mrs. Sherman has prevented any one to Illinois but herself from securing a national federation office for fourteen years," one woman said. "She was recording secretary several years. She was second vice president and at the last biennial she was elected chairman of the convention committee, although it was customary to select a member of the local board. There are a number of women who believe that some other club woman should be given an opportunity."

Choose Biennial Delegates Today.
The delegates to the biennial will be chosen tomorrow. There are twenty-five from the state, most of whom will be delegate women. But the state delegates will not begin to control the state at the biennial because many of the clubs belong to the general federation directly. The Chicago Woman's club, for instance, has thirteen delegates to the general federation biennial.

In the state election, which doesn't begin to create the interest that the national question does, Mrs. Morton W. Thompson of Chicago, formerly of Danville, is expected to oppose Mrs. John T. Mason of Aurora for vice president at large. The nominations will be made tomorrow morning.

One of the first big movements started by the federation is the better control of feeble minded persons. Following a campaign begun by The Tribune months ago, Dr. Clara H. Towne of Rush Medical college urged the club women to awake to the seriousness of allowing defectives to run loose.

New Corporation Counsel
Says Heads of Others
Also Will Go.

Three assistant corporation counsels, it is said, will find themselves without jobs today or tomorrow. They are Democratic holdovers from the Harrison administration.

There will be some changes in the office," Samuel A. Ettelson, the new corporation counsel, appointed in the place of Richard S. Poisson, said yesterday.

"The changes will be among the holdovers, though probably they will not be confined to them."
The Democrats in the corporation counsel's office at present are Leon Hornstein, Arthur L. Gettys, Louis Sullinger, James G. Skinner, and John E. Foster. Of these, it is said, Gettys, Sullinger, and Hornstein are the ones who will be dropped.

Quits Old Firm.
Mr. Ettelson took possession of the corporation counsel's office in the morning and immediately announced he had severed all connections with his former law firm, Schuyler, Ettelson & Weinfield, and the Chicago Tunnel company, which the firm has represented in its effort to obtain council approval to sell its automatic telephone equipment to the Bell system.

Beyond this statement he refused to comment on charges of Ald. C. E. Merriam and Ald. A. A. McCormick that his appointment was a "disgrace" and an "insult." But he indicated that he may have a reply for the two council members at some later time.

Won't Reply Now.
"I do not feel called on to reply to the remarks of the aldermen at this time," he said, "except in so far as my record is concerned. I was elected three times to the senate and the records of the legislature speak for themselves. They are open to any one and every one."
"So far as the automatic telephone matter is concerned, I want to announce that I have no further connection with it in any way. The law firm of Schuyler, Ettelson & Weinfield has dissolved, and in order that there may be no criticism of my position as corporation counsel in connection with this subject, I have arranged that Walter L. Fisher will represent the office in all phases of the automatic telephone problem."

LOAN SHARK AND TAX RATE FORCE SESSION NOV. 22

Dunne Says Fergus Case Compels Call Not Later than That Date.

Loan sharks are having a high old time out of the predicament of employees of the state of Illinois, thanks to the Fergus Junction suits, the Supreme court decision, and the forthcoming special session of the legislature, now set for one week from Monday.

Gov. Dunne says this is the case and he affirms officially that the shysters furnish one of two big reasons why the special session must be called before Thanksgiving at the earliest possible date. The other dominant demand for an immediate legislative session is that the tax levy for next year must be established by the state officials before Dec. 1.

Governor Absolves Self.
The governor didn't issue the call, officially, yesterday. He gave out a formal statement, citing the two foregoing conditions, absolving himself, as governor, for any of the responsibility for the present crisis in state financial affairs and warning the state that the Fergus decision had only entailed additional financial burdens.

It is learned that the governor intends to make no elaboration to the call as originally planned, carrying hope of remedy for state and Chicago finances directly involved by the Supreme court decision. He will add specifically the recommendation he made for four commissions, whose fate is in question: The Illinois centennial celebration board, the San Francisco exposition board, the Curran home finding investment committee, and the public employees' pensions investigating committee.

Home Rule Issue Cast Out.
There is no chance that the special session will be asked to legislate as to home rule of public utilities or on any phase of the wet and dry question. The possibility remains that he might slip in congressional and senatorial reapportionment, hanging fire since 1911, as a sure method of getting a quorum.

The present plan of legislative leaders is to have the necessary bills drawn up Attorney General Lucey and ready to introduce in the senate Nov. 22. The senate would pass the bills and a quorum would not be needed under this tentative program in the house until Nov. 25.

CITY WORKERS GO PAYLESS.
Janitresses and Elevator Operators Can't Get Wages Because of Sergel Ruling.

More than 100 janitresses, elevator operators, and other city hall employees yesterday found their semi-monthly pay tied up as a result of the Sergel case. When they applied for their checks they were told they would not be given out until City Controller Pike had been assured by City Treasurer Sergel that they would be honored when presented for payment. Their salaries and wages come from funds affected by appropriations made since the first quarter of the year. Mr. Sergel is expected to reply today to Mr. Pike's inquiry and the victims of the stringency probably will receive their money before night.

SPRINGS A NEW SUBWAY THEORY

Faherty Finds Law Giving
Local Board Sole
Right to Build.

OPEN AIR CARS DUE.

And now comes Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, with a new thought in connection with subway building. Experts have said that no more new lines would be forthcoming at once, but Mr. Faherty's views are admitted to be novel.

"The board of local improvements," he said emphatically last night, "is the only municipal body having the legal authority to build subways."

"What's that? Come again," said a startled reporter.
"That's right. I've been looking up the law. The board has the power and there is no other municipal body that has; and we don't intend to surrender it to the city council or anybody else."

"What are you going to do about it?"
"I shall lay the facts before the mayor and the city council. I shall write a letter to Mayor Thompson in the morning explaining exactly what the situation is."

"What is the law on the subject?"
"I'll tell that to the mayor in my letter."

So now when the council committee on local transportation meets this afternoon it may have before it a new theory for discussion.

Robertson Halts Car Suits.
Health Commissioner Robertson during the day directed City Prosecutor Miller to withhold filing some forty suits against the Chicago surface lines as the result of a conference between Dr. Robertson and Leonard Busby, president of the surface lines.

According to Dr. Robertson, Mr. Busby agreed to do the following things:
Operate "open air" street cars sufficient to meet the public demand.

Install ventilating systems in some 1,500 cars now depending on natural ventilation.
Furnish each car with a thermostat to keep the temperature at least as high as 50 degrees.

Place at the disposal of the health department advertising space for the display of "healthograms."

DEFENSE GAINS BY STATE'S MOVE AT ALLEN TRIAL

Attempt to Eliminate All Suspects Save Campbell Brings Up Doubt.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Joliet, Ill., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—Ten convicts, some on parole and some still serving time for offenses ranging from larceny to murder, followed each other on the stand in Judge Hooper's court today when the state continued its task of attempting, by elimination, to weave a net of circumstantial evidence about "Chicken Joe" Campbell. The state hopes to prove so conclusively the whereabouts of every inmate of the east wing of the prison on the morning of the fire as to make it appear impossible to the jurors for any other than Campbell to have committed the offense with which he is charged—the murder of Mrs. Odette Allen.

The witnesses differed but little in their stories. They contradicted each other slightly as to the time the fire alarm bell and whistle sounded on the morning of June 20, the day of Mrs. Allen's death, and as to what part of the warden's house Campbell was in at certain periods.

Some Doubt Raised.
Some made admissions on cross examination which left some doubt in the minds of the spectators as to where William Johnson, the pantryman, and Walter Edwards, the negro waiter, were just before the fire was discovered.

John Gukowski, a Polish baker from Chicago, serving sentence for murder, was one of the seven trustees in the warden's suite at the time of the fire. He was in the kitchen with Henry O. Jones, the cook, when the alarm was given. He said Campbell had brought the key to the office of Miss E. Morris, the housekeeper, and had turned it over to Johnson, the pantryman. Jones, Johnson, Edwards, James Larkin, the guard, and he all went inside, he said. He said he saw Edwards go into the closet in the pantry and did not see where he went after that. The kitchen just in front of Mrs. Allen's bed was kept in this closet, Campbell, he said, came into the kitchen and talked with Jones at 6:10, the time that Charles M. Rogers, turnkey at the ground entrance, had testified just previously Campbell came downstairs and went outside with the dog.

Under Fire of Barnett.
Attorney Barnett then took up the cross examination, and the baker said he did not see Johnson come out of the pantry and did not know where he went. He also didn't see Edwards again after he came out of the closet in the pantry. Jones, the negro cook, testified he saw Johnson working in the pantry on the morning of the fire as he passed in and out to an icebox where he kept the meat. Jones also declared Campbell did not heat water, as was his custom, on the morning of the fire.

Attorney Barnett then took up the cross examination, in which Jones said he first learned there was a fire when Johnson came into the kitchen and told him. Witness did not know where he had been before that.

Conflicts with Allen Story.
Charles Larson of Chicago, sentenced for assault and now on parole, testified he heard Edmund M. Allen, the former warden, tell Campbell to be a "good boy" before he left on the trip to West Baden on June 19. Mr. Allen denied ever having made such a statement when he was on the stand.

Attorney Barnett said he also might subpoena "Mutt" Travers, Allen's confidential clerk, whose movements, it is said, have never been checked up in detail.

WRIT TIES UP VILLA BULLION

Court Blocks Attempt to Move $40,000 Belonging to Mexican Agents.

REPORTED AS STOLEN.

An injunction was granted by Federal Judge Carpenter yesterday restraining customs officials and others from removing from the Rock Island yards at Blue Island nine carloads of gold, silver, copper and lead bullion. The value of the metal is estimated at $40,000. It is alleged to have been stolen from a mine in Chihuahua by agents of Gen. Francisco Villa's revolutionary forces.

Judge Carpenter granted a temporary restraining order and set the case for hearing on Nov. 10, when the question of ownership will be determined and a permanent injunction issued.

Case Is Transferred.

The case was transferred to the United States District court from Judge Smith in the Circuit court. Judge Smith issued an injunction several days ago, but dissolved the writ yesterday on technical grounds. Attorneys Walter Hawk and Samuel S. Holmes, representing the Compania Explotadora de la Mina Nacica, S. A., a Mexican mining corporation operating with American and French capital and with headquarters in Mexico City, hurried to the federal building and laid the case before Judge Carpenter.

The bullion was shipped to Chicago in bond over the Rock Island railroad from El Paso, Tex. L. C. Barlow of El Paso shipped it to his own order.

Calle Barlow Secret Agent.
The lawyers for the mining company charged that Barlow is a secret agent of the Villa forces and that his business is to dispose of ore confiscated by Villa's revolutionary bands. Barlow denied the charge. He insisted he is an innocent purchaser.

"This is only one of similar cases in various parts of the United States," Attorney Hawk said. "At least $10,000,000 worth of ore has been stolen. I suppose they call it confiscation, and shipped out of Mexico to secret agents in the United States."

"This action today is part of a concerted move on the part of the Smelters' and Mine Operators' Association of Mexico to stamp out the plague."

NELLIE BREEN SHOWS LETTER SENT TO WRIGHT

Erstwhile Housekeeper of Tallies Denies She Has Been Blackmailing Architect.

Mrs. Nellie Breen, erstwhile housekeeper for Architect Frank Lloyd Wright at Tallies, the Spring Green bungalow, walked into Tim Tinsworth's office yesterday, her eyes flashing fire.

"So," she snapped, "they say I have been blackmailing Mr. Wright, do they? Clarence Darrow has taken my letters to the federal building, has he? Well, here is a copy of my only letter to Mr. Wright. You may judge for yourself as to what sort of 'demands' I made on him."

Mrs. Breen Shows Copy.
Mrs. Breen produced a carefully preserved copy, which read as follows: "Oct. 22—Dear Mr. Wright: You have been trying to see me. Will you please come in to your office next Monday a. m. and meet me about 9 o'clock? It is rather important. You and Miriam Noel are liable to arrest under the Mann act upon evidence as yet solely in my possession. This evidence is so strong that if arrested you may not be admitted to bail. Nothing about this will be done, however, if you agree to separate at once. That is, you cannot keep her at Tallies or Cedar street, nor have her visit you nor live with her. I think you know the folly of offering me money. The newspapers are muzzled and will stay muzzled unless you are arrested."

"N. B." "There was a postscript to this letter," added Mrs. Breen, "of which I made no draft and have no copy. It was lengthy and contained almost entirely of friendly ridicule, and I will be glad to have it published if Mr. Wright will give it out."

"Trivial Letters."
Mrs. Breen's correspondence with other members of the Wright colony at Spring Green, she said, consisted chiefly of a series of "trivial letters," which passed between the housekeeper and Russell Williamson, an architect and an associate of Wright's.

In one letter to Williamson the former housekeeper requested the architect to "pay her respects to the two old cats." "My next move in the case," said Mrs. Breen, "will be to make Mr. Wright produce the threatening letters he asserts I have written. I have produced evidence in proof of my statements. Now let him produce his. He doesn't do so because he hasn't any."

"What I have tried to do I have done for Mr. Wright's children. I believe in marriage, and I think that children are entitled to all society can do to protect them."

Following his conference with Mr. Clabaugh at the federal building, Attorney Darrow announced that it is unlikely any definite action will be taken by Mr. Wright against his former housekeeper.

Mr. Clabaugh has the originals of all Mrs. Breen's letters, he said. "In effect, if not in direct language, I am convinced that they contain threats as to what the writer will do, and, by the same token, violations of the postal laws."

"Still, she has done all the harm she can, and neither Mr. Wright nor I are disposed to prosecute. As far as we are concerned the incident is closed."

"Prettiest Co-ed" Becomes Bride.

The freshman who used to bring her notes from another beau when she was a sophomore became the husband last night of Miss Helen Gertrude Hale, '12, Northwestern university. He is Harold Johnson Clark, '13, Northwestern university, honor man and now a lawyer.

Miss Clark enjoys the honor of being voted "the most beautiful co-ed in the university" when she was in her senior year. The wedding, at which Dr. W. T. McIlvaine officiated, was an event of the Evanston season.

Reads Ceremonial Address.
The chief ritualist, majestic in his flowing robes and wearing the stiff, oval bonnet of the Shinto priest, knelt before the altar, then, rising, read the "norito," or ceremonial address announcing to the soul of the imperial ancestors, Amaterasu Omikami, the beginning of the grand accession or coronation ceremonies. Another profound silence. It was the precursor of the supreme moment, and this was the stately entry of the emperor and his suite.

The grand master of ceremonies, the minister of the household, and two chamberlains preceded his majesty, and each chamberlain bore a sacred object, one the sword and the other the comma-shaped jewel necklace. Following the emperor were the lord chamberlain, chamberlains, chief aid de camp, aide de camp, and at a short distance the prince of the blood, Count Okuma, the prime minister, the lord keeper of the privy seal, and the chief coronation commissioner.

Attired in Pure White.
The emperor was a striking vision in a pure milk white robe of glossy silk. The color white is always worn in ritual services, being symbolic of purity and sanctity. All the garments, outer and inner, were white, in accordance with the ancient court regulations, and the shoes were of the same hue. The robe, which ceremonial Shinto costume, and cleaned his hands with sacred water.

The guards of honor assembled in the courtyard without the gates, and high officials attached to the coronation committee took positions at the right and left sides of the south gate, newly built for the entrance of the Shinkoden hall. Next entered forty high officials, eight carrying swords in double faced broad scabbards. Eight others carried bows in sacks of flaming scarlet silk, and still another eight bore quivers of arrows in sacks of purple. The last group held shining shields and halberds. A score of other high officials wearing similar ceremonial robes and carrying swords, bows, and arrows in quivers followed. Their role was that of the ancient warrior of the guard.

Rings the Sacred Bell.
The prayer concluded, the emperor took the sacred bell held by a chamberlain and rang it before the sanctuary, according to Shinto ritual. When the emperor had resumed his place on the dais the crown prince and other members of the imperial family made their oblation before the sanctuary. A court lady in ancient robes made an oblation as representative of the absent empress.

Emperor Yoshihito, in commemoration of the coronation, bestowed decorations today on the ambassadors and ministers of Japan, with the exception of the American and Swiss representatives, who are prevented by the laws of their countries from accepting such decorations. In view of this fact the emperor presented to Mrs. Guthrie a golden lacquer box. Gifts for the emperor are being received in great numbers.

The United States cruiser Saratoga, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, arrived at Kobe today and gave the salute.

China to Remain Republic for at Least Another Year

Government Authorizes Statement Change to Monarchy Has Been Delayed—Powers Use Pressure?

PEKING, Nov. 9.—The Chinese republic today authorized the statement that no change would be made this year in the form of government of the country.

Election returns make it certain that the proposal to reestablish a monarchical form of government has been adopted. These returns show that eighteen of the twenty-two provinces already have given solid support to the project.

The election will be completed, but restoration of the monarchy will be delayed.

[The decision to postpone the change in China's government results from representations made by Japan, Great Britain, France, and Russia that such a change might endanger the peace of the orient and should be delayed until after the European war.]

This is Sam Merwin

Take a good look at him—

Yes—he is the author of "Anthony the Absolute" and "The Honey Bee"—novels that have helped make him several hundred thousand friends.

Maybe you are one of these—

"The Trufflers"—a new story series that begins in the December Cosmopolitan (out today) will make him several hundred thousand more. Be one of these anyway.

The title of the first story is "The Broadway Thing". Now do you know what it's about?

Merwin says a good many things you wish you had said yourself—which is perhaps one reason his stories are so easy to read.

The men and women he writes about—and the situations they get into, most always make you think to yourself, "I wonder if he took So and So for that character," and you grin as you send the story (with some passages marked) to the one who will understand just what the markings mean.

It isn't easy for a magazine to get an exclusive contract with a man like Merwin. And it costs a great deal of money.

But that is the Cosmopolitan way—not only to give you the work of the best writers—but to be sure you won't miss any of it.

Which is partly why Cosmopolitan is so often "sold out" the day after publication.

THE INVASION OF AMERICA

A narrative fact-story based authoritatively on the inexorable mathematics of war—what can be done to oppose an invading army with our actual present resources in regulars, trained militia, untrained citizens, coast defenses, field artillery and all other weapons of defense.

To begin in The Daily News to-morrow

The only theoretical assumption in this series of articles is that the United States is attacked. Every other incident is a straight statement of what absolutely must happen in such a case, with our military establishment remaining what it is to-day. In the words of certain foremost military executives of the United States army, who have cognizance of these articles, "It is the cold truth." Nothing is overstated or understated. Every reference to military efficiency, supplies of cannon, ammunition and other implements, numbers of men in the various military units, etc., is based conscientiously on actual resources shown to-day in the official records of the military establishments of the United States.

The description of the preparatory mobilization, assembly and management of our regular army and militia has been proved as technically correct.

The description of the procedure of our small army in the presence of a large enemy army that has successfully landed is not a "piece of armchair strategy." It is what our numerically weaker force must inevitably do in modern war conditions. The Invasion of America is not a plea for militarism. It is not a plea for anything. It is intended simply to tell in logical sequence facts that do exist. It is the answer of military experts—who long have faced these facts apprehensively—to the question:

"Can we defend ourselves?"

MORE BADGERS TREATED WITH PRO RECORD?

Eligibility of Gardner and Simpson May Undergo Probe.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Not since the days of the Capron White Sox has the athletic situation at the University of Wisconsin been so complicated. The Badger football team yesterday quit athletics to escape, as he put it, the embarrassment of an investigation, set a precedent when he withdrew before definite charges had been proved.

The athletic council today has let it known that persons have been secured at Glenview, Ill., the home of Calvin and where he is supposed to have played summer baseball, to investigate the case thoroughly, and until such information is in their hands, the athletic council will not speak officially.

May Question Gardner. While the Badger authorities have pronounced Quarter Back Simpson an amateur in good standing, there seems to be an insistence on his ineligibility at Minneapolis. Rumors from Minneapolis also tell that Gardner, the Badger guard, is to be questioned, but as yet no formal request has been made to Athletic Director Ehler to probe his amateur status.

The Badger student body, alumni, and supporters of football at Wisconsin are all up in the air waiting the outcome. On the eve of the Illinois game, with the veteran Half Backs Myers and Smith, out with injuries, and Garvin lost through his quitting athletics, the situation looks extremely bad.

Students to Demand Change. Prominent student leaders around the campus indicated that petitions would be circulated at once in an endeavor to bring pressure to bear upon the Wisconsin representatives of the big nine conference to go to the next session primed to work for the abolition of the amateur clause that has been the source of so much trouble.

At Camp Randall today Juneau had his variety and reserves clash with the reserves, using the Illinois line of attack. Kreuz, who has been out since the Purdue game with an injured leg, was back and is being groomed to work regularly at the full back place. Cummings and Wagner will undoubtedly be Juneau's pick for the half back places.

WATSON OUT OF SCRIMMAGE. Urbana, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The Illinois, driven hard by Coach Zuppke, who sees in the Badgers stubbornness next Saturday, didn't show quite so well tonight. Capt. Watson still remained out of the scrimmage, although there is no doubt that the leader will be fit for Saturday's contest.

It is extremely doubtful, however, if Appleman will be able to play his guard position. Hanchman was in his place tonight, while Graham is another possibility. Hanchman played well against Minnesota and is hoped to start against the Badgers if Appleman is still side lined.

Harold Pogue scrimmaged again and weathered the ordeal successfully, so the Illinois are beginning to count on the star half back's appearance against Wisconsin for at least part of the game. Poty Clark is going like a house afire and promises to play in the best form of his life.

SQUAD AT YALE GIVEN LECTURE. New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Instead of ordering a brisk scrimmage practice Yale football coaches sent the players through an hour's signal rehearsal and an equal amount of drill in running through dummy plays against the ineligible today. The coaches at times stopped the practice and lectured the players on their proper positions.

Yesterday's lineup was continued, although it is expected that shifts will be made at left end, left tackle, and right guard before Saturday's Princeton game. Burr Chamberlain, captain in 1914, and Howard Jones, head coach for two seasons, joined the list of coaches. Tomorrow the only scrimmage of the week will be ordered with the freshmen eleven as variety opponents.

FORGET HARVARD DEFEAT. Princeton, N. J., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Football practice in Tiger town went smoothly and with satisfaction to the coaches. The men seemed to have thrown off the worry of their defeat at the hands of the Crimson, and started with a new determination.

Twice the varsity traveled the length of the field for touchdowns, and neither the second eleven nor the scrubs could stop it. When placed on the defensive the scrubs were powerless.

Charley Dickerman, who played left half for the regulars, was the star. Besides his splendid defensive work he made a pretty run of thirty-five yards for a touchdown. He will most likely play against Yale. All the regulars except Gennett and Bost got into the scrimmage, but at no time was there a complete lineup of first string men.

Moore, Dickerman, and Law were used in the back field in addition to the regulars, and all did well. Hana, a light back field man who has been on the injured list nearly all season, was given a lot of attention today.

I. A. C. X-COUNTRY ATHLETES TO BID FOR ANNUAL HONORS. Coach Mahan's I. A. C. track men will make a strong bid for their third annual cross-country championship of the Central A. A. U. on Nov. 20. Joe Ray heads a list of eight triathlete entries who will try to compete over the course of five and a half miles in Douglas park.

The Bricklayers A. C., which is in charge of the race, has offered in addition to the A. A. U. prize for the first ten to finish, five bronze medals. Special awards will be given to the oldest man to finish; the youngest man, the first untied runner, the first playground runner, and the first novice bricklayer. First place winner will get the Peter Shaugnessy trophy.

Chris Christensen, Danish-American A. C. distance runner, was one of the first to make entry and is expected to furnish stiff opposition for the champion I. A. C. barriers.

Maroon Reserves Expected to Prove Factor in Struggle Against the Gophers Saturday.

ALFRED O'CONNOR NORMAN (BOOIE) CAHN WALTER SCHAFER

FIVE HOUR WORKOUT HANDED TO MAROONS BEHIND LOCKED GATE

BY MAROON. The Maroons worked for five hours yesterday in preparation for the Gophers under pedic and arc light. Not even the denizens of the Midway were admitted to the rehearsal and Coach Stag was so afraid that some might be lurking in the dormitory towers that he called off the scrimmage with the freshmen and took his players into a far corner of the field, where they were hidden by the gymnasium walls. The spotlights were turned on at dark and it was nearly 9 o'clock when the players got under offense.

Offensive drill was the program of the afternoon. The varsity went through a signal drill that lasted most of the afternoon while Stag followed every play and gave instructions for more perfect interference and deception. The line took a short drill as diagnosing Gopher play without tackling the runners, for fear of injuries just before the great struggle with the Gophers.

Students at Massmeeting. At a massmeeting in Kent theater yesterday morning Capt. Pete Russell and Harold Goettler, a former Maroon star line man, were the speakers. The students plan to give the team a great send-off tomorrow when there will be another massmeeting in the morning. In the afternoon the fans have petitioned for a short chance to see the team in signal practice and it is expected that Stag will throw open the gates for a glimpse of the varsity.

Business Manager D. S. Merriam of the Maroons has charge of the special train and the sale of tickets. About 400 alumni and students will make the trip. Every possible effort is being taken to prevent scalping. Chicago students will not be allowed to purchase tickets for other than their own and place them on sale at advanced prices in Minneapolis.

CAN BERMAN PLAY? Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—There is one big question which is just now causing worry in the ranks of Gopher reserves. That is, will Capt. Bernard Bertram be in the lineup next Saturday against Chicago. Coach Williams, if he knows the answer, is keeping it to himself.

With another scrimmage taking place today with the injured Bertram watching it from the side lines, the possibility of his participation in the contest against the Maroons grows more distant.

This much is known, Bertram has not been in a scrimmage for two weeks. He has told friends he hopes to play against Chicago, but the Gopher captain said the same thing before the Illinois game. Bertram, however, got into signal practice, keeping his injured side bound tight in tape.

Stop Maroon Plays. The Gophers ripped up the freshmen team, executing a variety of the new formations handed them last Friday by Dr. Williams. The freshmen in turn put into play some of the Stag formations observed by Gopher scouts at Chicago last Saturday, but the yearlings did not get far with them.

The arrival of Midway rosters is expected to force betting to even terms. The 2,000 seats placed on sale to the public on Monday were all grabbed up today, spectators getting a few of them. This means that 14,000 reserved seats have been sold, leaving only 6,000 tickets for general admission. The entire northwest is wrought up over the coming contest.

YEARLINGS SCORE ON PURPLE Purple yearlings, using Indiana plays, together with middle males, caused much trouble for the varsity in the scrimmage at Northwestern yesterday. Bert Cigrand, the former East Aurora star, and Bob Koehler, ex-Wendell Phillips player, scored touchdowns. The varsity was on the defensive most of the time. Steinbrenner, who claims he was bitten by a Minnecan last Saturday, appeared with an abrasion on his thumb. Underhill was back at half back, but his understudy, Treck, was still confined to the dormitory with a high fever.

More Riders for 6 Day Grind. Ernest Clark, San Francisco, and Charles Miller, Atlanta, were added to the list of riders in the coming six day race at the Coleman yesterday. Clark and Miller are making their debut, along with Eddie Miller, the New Yorker, in the strenuous contest of six days.

Students Sell Tickets to Haskell Contest.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO athletic department officials found another channel by which commercialism is invading sports last Saturday. A dozen football fans who sought entrance to the Maroon-Haskell game by presenting students' athletic ticket books were unseated as impostors by waiters employed by Business Manager David S. Merriam. Admission was refused and the books taken up.

Ticket books are sold only to university students, and are good for entrance to all varsity athletic contests on the home grounds for a year. They are non-negotiable.

"We took up all the books we could find," Merriam stated, "although these have certainly been some lost walls from the unscrupulous-like students. As the Haskell game was not regarded as a strong card, the offenders took chances on losing or renting their passbooks."

Mr. Merriam was not able to state what punishment, if any, would be meted out to the offending students.

Light Practice for Wolverines; Stars on Lines. Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Light signal practice was the program which Tost put the battered Wolverines through this afternoon. Maulbetich and Millard, who were still somewhat sore from the fray with the Illinois, did not take part, but warmed up along the side of the field instead. Their places were taken by Sharpe and Weske.

Weeks is a man of whom the coach expects a great deal next year, and if Millard does not improve he may get a chance to do something in the Penn game. Tomorrow afternoon the scrub varsity will have a short scrimmage with the All Fresh, only two or three of the regulars taking part, and at 7:30 o'clock hundreds of enthusiastic students will give the Maize and Blue delegates a rousing send-off as they begin their trip to Philadelphia.

Penn Works on Attack. Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The University of Pennsylvania team was given a thorough drilling in offensive plays today by Coaches Williams, Wharton and Dickson in preparation for Saturday's game with Michigan. THREATS HIT LANE AS BIG GAME NEARS; BLUEITT OVER AGE?

BY OTTO A. ENGEL. Lane Tech's football team, which started the season so auspiciously that many deplored its success, is now in the hands of a heavyweight league championship will be further rattled before it tackles Crane Tech Saturday afternoon at Weegham park. Having lost Capt. Huber through a severe injury which will return to the team in a few weeks, the team has been made to show that Half Back Blueitt, the negro player, also is more than 21 years old.

Although no official protest has been placed with Chairman Cook of the faculty football committee, Physical Director Meyers of Crane announced last night that he would start a quiet investigation of his own. He got his tip from Knowledge and also from players who know Blueitt.

Parent Gives Affidavit. Anticipating such a move, Principal Hogan of Lane secured an affidavit from Blueitt's mother, who reported that her son would not reach his majority until the first of the year. Meyers showed that Blueitt is nearly 22 years old, according to grammar school records, but Mrs. Blueitt in her affidavit stated her son's age was given as 17 years when he entered school although he was only 5 years old at the time.

With the sectional spirit in the southern division belonging to Englewood, Crane, which is leading with three victories in the northern section, looking for a corner with Morgan Park, each having two victories and one defeat. Should Lane upset Crane the result will be a triple tie.

On the face of it such a condition would complicate chances for playing the championship combat, but Coach Meyers said that in the event of a Crane defeat he would withdraw his team from the race and permit Morgan Park and Lane to battle for the honor of meeting Englewood last.

U. High Offered Games. Having received offers from Louisville and St. Louis City, La., schools for Thanksgiving games, University High, champion of the Suburban league, also is wanted for a game at Rockford. U. High has turned down the proposition because of the unwritten law prohibiting Turkey day contests. U. High, however, has agreed to play at Rockford on Nov. 20, if suitable financial arrangements can be made.

Just like his league, De Paul academy players practiced behind closed gates in preparation for their feature game with Englewood at De Paul on Saturday. Coach Papan, expecting a heavy attack against the line, made several shifts which are expected to block all moves of the Chicago league. Bill Grundman was placed at center and Finn at guard. Carroll was taken from the line and placed at full back.

MAROON VICTORY DEPENDS ON LINE, ASSERTS 'ECKIE'

Forward Wall Must Hold If the Team Expects to Defeat Gopher Eleven.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL. Because of the many upsets which have occurred this year Chicago must be given a chance to beat the Gophers at Minneapolis on Saturday. It is admitted the big team of the northwest is a strong aggregation, but the generalship of Coach Stag may offset the best laid plans of Coach Williams. Unless the Gophers play hard, consistent football at all times the Maroons may trot off the field victors.

This contest, which must be considered the turning point in the schedules of both eleven, should be the most bitterly fought struggle of the conference schedule. Both coaches will send their teams on the field prepared to play the hardest kind of football. Nothing will be left undone. The defeated eleven will be out of the big place race.

Chicago Unknown Factor. Chicago is a team of unknown possibilities. This was shown in the Wisconsin game, when Stag outgeneraled Juneau. The Midway minor league, even in the game to meet on one of the runs when Chicago had the ball and as soon as their best efforts had been spent other players were sent into the battle. It was this generalship which resulted in a Chicago victory. If Stag uses the same kind of tactics on Saturday Chicago may repeat.

In this game it will be a question of the line. If the Maroon forward wall can hold then Chicago has a good chance to return to the midway with confident hopes of scoring a victory over Illinois on Stag field the following Saturday.

Maroon Line Improves. The Maroon line has shown improvement in every game. Stag's forwards in the Haskell Indian game showed a vast improvement over the work in the Wisconsin game. Upon a continuation of such improvement this week, with equally good football in other departments, depend Chicago's chances.

That is one of the most essential aspects to the success of any eleven was shown conclusively last Saturday in the Cornell-Michigan game. Johnny Maulbetich, one of the best half backs seen in the west since the days of Willie Weston, was unable to make consistent gains because of lack of support. The Wolverine was thrown back time after time before he even got started because of the failure of the line to hold.

Whether the loss of Galvin, the ponderous Minnesota line if the Maroon forward line holds their own. A back cannot be expected to make ground if he is not given the proper support and unless the Chicago forwards line hold its own with the Gopher forwards the Maroons have only a slim chance to win. It should be an evenly fought contest unless Dame Fortune proves a factor.

Even Battle at Urbana. The second round game should be an evenly fought battle. The Badgers look to Chicago by the margin of one point, but the breaks of the game were against them. The team determined to make amends for its defeat by the Maroon in the first round, each having two victories and one defeat. Should Lane upset Crane the result will be a triple tie.

On the face of it such a condition would complicate chances for playing the championship combat, but Coach Meyers said that in the event of a Crane defeat he would withdraw his team from the race and permit Morgan Park and Lane to battle for the honor of meeting Englewood last.

ARREST BOXERS, BUT LATER PERMIT THEM TO FIGHT IN PEORIA

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—The Ministerial association and the Peoria Law Enforcement league today secured warrants and had arrested the prize fighters and promoters of the Ritchie-Herman bout scheduled for tonight. The promoters, ministers, and members of the league held a closed meeting for an hour tonight and effected a compromise.

This'll Be About All.
The promoters were given clear rights to stage the three fights tonight with the understanding that no more prize fights would be held in Peoria under the present management. The law enforcement league will not appear against the prize fighters and promoters when the case is called in court tomorrow.

Willing's Blows Carry Steam.
Willing's method of attack was a left jab to the face and a straight right to the body. From that time until the end of the fight, Willing kept Sherman's head snapping back and the red stuff came in a steady flow in the ninth round, when Willing left opened a cut on his opponent's forehead. Sherman did not begin to get up with his rival, who had it on him in a rush by a wide margin.

Means Curfew on Boxing.
The agreement between the Peoria Law Enforcement league and the promoters probably spells the end of boxing in Peoria.

C.W. MURPHY EXPLAINS DEAL WITH TAMPA BUSINESS MEN.
Chicago, Nov. 9.—(Editor of The Tribune.)—Under the caption: "Murphy Futs One Over." It is made to appear that I acted dishonorably with Tampa business men in regard to the terms under which the Cubs trained in Florida. I wish to hastily and strenuously deny that charge, or imputation. It is most unfair.

The idea of the Cubs training at Tampa was not to make money. I felt that the climate there was ideal for the purpose, and figured that games could be arranged, the receipts of which would offset the expenses. At that time no one figured on railroad fares for sending the Cubs out of Tampa to play. I know I never did.

The Tampa business men wanted the Cubs, realizing that the team was the longest established in baseball and probably the most famous and they figured training quarters there would do much to advertise Tampa and Florida. That they figured correctly is shown by other major league teams following the Cubs to Florida. I wish to state, however, that I was not guilty of misrepresentation, sharp practice, nor anything dishonorable, as might be inferred from the sub-head. "Murphy Futs One Over," and I would like to be set right in that respect.

The contract entered into between the Tampa men and me meant just what it said. I thank you for giving me a chance to place my side of this matter before the public.

MEAGHAN-REAGAN GO DRAW.
Stanley Meaghan and Eddie Reagan, 130 pound amateurs, staged a fast three round combat at O'Connell's ring last night, featuring the weekly boxing card. The decision went to Meaghan. Bob Smith and Miller fought a draw in the last clash.

110 pound class—Newton Goodwin won over Tony Lurgio in three rounds, 150 pounds, Dave Hartman won over Frank Moran in three rounds, 120 pounds, Thomas Tubb won over William Carroll, three rounds; Eddie Kniff won over E. Mario, three rounds, 145 pounds, Young Rudolph won over Frank Moran, three rounds.

Frank Salter, a St. Paul sporting man, made the first bet on the Andre Anderson-Fred Fulton battle, which takes place in Milwaukee on Nov. 17. Salter bet $100 that Anderson would stop Fulton within ten rounds.

Salter also bet the "Millionaire News" $500 even that if the bout went the other way, Anderson would be awarded the prize money.

Another Bartfield, the New York welterweight, will arrive in town this morning. Bartfield, who will train at the Forbes gymnasium in New York, is accompanied by his manager, Dan McKittrick, his manager. The bout is scheduled to box Mike O'Dowd in Peoria on Nov. 12.

Owner of Yanks Views Sox Plant for Ideas.

BY L. E. SANBORN.
Capt. T. L. Huston, one of the owners of the New York American league club, was in Chicago yesterday looking over Comiskey park for ideas to embody in the new plant which is to be erected for the Yankees within the year. Capt. Huston, who knows a few things about contracting, has inspected most of the modern baseball parks and already adopted some of the good points he has discovered, besides avoiding the mistakes of previous builders.

Although familiar with Comiskey park, Capt. Huston came to make a thorough examination of the entrance and exits at the White Sox grounds, particularly with a view to avoiding congestion in the approach. In this respect Comiskey's plant is said to be the best baseball park yet erected. At the new Braves park in Boston, for instance, it was discovered during the world's series that a mistake had been made. The approaches to the entrance produced rather than relieved congestion under the test of a capacity crush.

Build with Eye for Future.
Capt. Huston said that Col. Ruppert, his partner in the New York club, and himself did not contemplate breaking any records with their new plant, but proposed to build a modest affair capable of seating 30,000 people on a single deck arrangement, with steel work designed to carry a second deck if desired in the future. The plans already have been worked out in the main, but the arrangement for entrances did not meet approval and the captain came here to get ideas for their improvement.

The new Yankee plant is not expected to be ready by the opening of the championship season next April, that being a season when the club will be in the city.

FARMER GETS DILLON BOUT.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 9.—Frank Farmer, the local middleweight who jumped into prominence by dropping Jimmy Clabby in a bout here last July, has been matched to meet Jack Dillon at Sam Howard's Oshkosh club on Nov. 18. Howard has kept Farmer under cover since his return from the east, where the boxer made a splendid showing with Johnny Howard, the only man that ever dropped Jack Dillon.

Comiskey Stays at Home.
President Comiskey of the White Sox was on hand to refuse to person the report that he was in French Lick, Ind., where a conference between representatives of organized baseball and the Federal league was to have been planned.

Manager Tinker of the White Sox expects to go to a hospital tomorrow to submit to an operation which has been long delayed and which is expected to keep him housed for quite a spell. He reported everything shipshape at Shoreport for the next spring trip of the White Sox.

COURT UPHOLDS CHICAGO PLAN'S INITIAL STEP

Judge Overrules Objections to Widening of Twelfth Street.

"The first big legal victory on the first big step in carrying out the great central street plan for the relief of congestion in the loop district."

The significance of Judge Brennan's decision in the Twelfth street widening case was expressed in these words yesterday by Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the Chicago plan commission. Judge Brennan overruled the objections of certain property owners against the Twelfth street improvement.

Called Great Undertaking.

"The people of Chicago are to be congratulated on the decision," continued Mr. Wacker. "How much it means is not realized now. This is the biggest thing ever undertaken in a great city for such benefits as will accrue with the widening of Canal street—and the Michigan avenue improvement north of Randolph street, which is set for trial in the County court Dec. 20. These with Twelfth street will complete the chain of improvements for traffic relief in the central district. The benefits will affect the whole city."

Our cumbersome legal procedure has caused the Twelfth street improvement to drag a long time. The plan commission is hopeful that the condemnation of the property will go forward as rapidly as court proceedings will permit."

New Viaduct Planned.

Under the plan for widening Twelfth street it is proposed to make the street 108 feet wide between Ashland boulevard and Canal street and 118 feet wide from Canal street to Michigan avenue. A new viaduct over the railroads and a new bridge over the river are part of the scheme. The objections to the improvement were argued for two months before Judge Brennan.

The step to be taken by the board of local improvements will be to get judgments in condemnation proceedings against approximately $5,000,000 worth of property.

"A great public improvement is here involved to which much thought has been given by public spirited men," Judge Brennan said in his decision. "The vastness of the enterprise in question appeals to the sober judgment of the court. The court is of the opinion that all proper safeguards have been taken for the protection of the objectors."

Sunday closing of the saloons has opened the settlement houses on that day. Burglaryman Hanged Self.

Charles P. Foote of 2326 South Homan avenue, a burglar, was found dead in his home yesterday, having hanged himself when supposedly dependent upon ill health.

"I am living on a farm, ten miles from town—my father has a farm now for years, although I was born in the city; he has helpers and Mother has a girl in the kitchen; I am the only daughter and find little work to do and am lonesome  Can you help me?"

Mother Tells Oak Park Board Son Was Taken Into House After Seizure on Street.

Three Oak Park women, mothers of boys suspended from the high school because of their alleged affiliation with the Delta Sigma Upsilon fraternity, yesterday gave their views to the Oak Park school board.

"Robert does not belong to the fraternity," was the statement of Mrs. Robert Reno, mother of Robert Reno Jr. "He did join the fraternity last February, but he left it in April. This fall he had a fainting spell as he was walking in front of the fraternity house, where he was taken for aid."

Joseph Jannotta, 17 years old, was pledged to the fraternity, and this without the consent or knowledge of his parents, Mrs. Jannotta explained.

Mrs. J. S. Robinson, mother of Arthur Robinson, said she did not know whether her son belonged to the fraternity or not.

"He did not take his life as the police said. We have hired private detectives, and they will find the evidence. We only want justice, and we are doing everything we can to get it."

The deputy coroner continued the inquest. Hoekstra was found shot to death on Oct. 31.

WOMAN 'TIPS' FOUL PLAY; SEVEN BODIES IN YARD!

Being a Groomsman Mystery Which Reporter Unravels After a Little Casual Investigation.

A greatly excited woman called up Tim Tammara yesterday, saying she had seen a human body carried down the back stairs at Ada and Fulton streets, and feared foul play.

A reporter hurried madly to the place. In the back court yard he found seven bodies—one of a woman and six of men. However, it was learned that the building adjoining is the Bennett Medical college. The bodies had been brought down from the dissecting room for cremation.

MAKES A FORTUNE OFF LOTS.

[This is the third of Mr. Hyde's series of articles on "Streeterville."]
BY HENRY M. HYDE.How many thousands of dollars "Cap" Streeter has made out of the "territory of Lake Michigan" is uncertain. It is estimated as high as $100,000.One syndicate of capitalists at South Ind. is said to have invested more than $50,000 in buying such titles as the old man could give to the property. Many of the lots have been sold several times, as the earlier purchasers defaulted on their payments. It used to be said that if a policeman sent to arrest the "Cap" and Maria did not get shot or chased off the "deestrick," he was likely to wind up by buying one of their lake front lots.At one time the "Cap" had plans to the whole territory filed in the office of the county recorder. Later these were withdrawn when it was decided to organize all the territory of old Pine street into a new territory of the United States and to divide not only from the city of Chicago but from the state of Illinois.

Territorial Officials Elected.

It was late in the '90s that this action was formally taken. At the time the "Cap" had a number of men to whom he had "sold" lots living in shacks on various parts of the "territory." One of the shacks was called the courthouse and the territory of Lake Michigan. "Cap" Streeter went down to Washington and applied for admission to congress as the first delegate from the newly organized territory.

Property Owners Alarmed.

Things began to look so serious that the property owners determined on decisive action. As the result of various court decisions and several raids the occupants of the district were finally driven off and for a time peace reigned again. But not for long.

Half of Army Deserters.

During that march through the darkness more than half of the army deserted or grew footsore and dropped out of the ranks. There were only thirteen warriors left when the wall was finally hoisted for the run up the lake. At 2 o'clock in the morning the ship came to anchor off the shore of Superior street.

A Lone Policeman Stationed on the Territory.

A lone policeman stationed on the territory saw the army start to disembark and rushed to a telephone to summon reinforcements.

So the day of the most famous and spectacular naval battle ever fought in the vicinity of Chicago.

For once the "Cap" and Maria were not in the thick of hostilities. They occupied at that time rooms on the second floor of the old Tremont house. There they sat most of the day, constituting the board of higher strategy for the troops actually engaged.

Meanwhile Gov. Gen. Miles had landed his troops, now reduced to eleven, thrown up entrenchments, raised the United States flag, read a new declaration of independence, and established an outpost on Superior street, about 200 feet east of Pine street.

All Forces Mobilized.

News of the raid telephoned downtown caused intense excitement. All the forces of the state, county, and city were called into action. The governor, the mayor, and the council were all summoned for consultation.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Collins

Fitz was made acting admiral of the army and given command of two tugs, the John Hay and the fireboat Illinois, as well as a three inch gun. The tugs were hastily mounted. They were to sail up the lake and bombard the invading army from the rear.

Matters pertaining to the battle were armed with repeating rifles, were to make the first line of attack, and 400 more men, similarly armed, were to be in reserve at the Chicago avenue pumpkin. The secretary of the Lincoln park board was also mobilized for the battle line.

While these arrangements were under way some desperate scouting was being done. The first adventure was that of George Kirby, secretary of the Lincoln park board. He started to drive his horse at a merry clip down the drive into the territory. As it reached the first outpost the enemy stopped the horse, turned it around, and started shooting holes in the saddle. Mr. Kirby went away from there at an exceedingly rapid pace.

Capt. Baer in Retreat.

Next to come was Capt. Barney Baer of the Lincoln park board, also driving in a buggy. He decided to disguise himselfRUBBER STAMP SAVES STREET IN COURT

A RUBBER stamp with a handover yesterday entered the liquor chronicles of Capt. George Wellington Streeter. The stamp belongs in the office of the city chemist. A clerk forgot to date it forward, and when a policeman brought in a bottle of beer from the Streeter cabaret to be christened exhibit A, the stamp imprinted "Received Oct. 28, 12 o'clock."The policeman in Judge Graham's court testified he bought that bottle of beer at Streeter's place Oct. 28 at 2 p. m.

Prosecutor Harry E. Miller was forced to take a nonsuit because of the conflicting evidence.

"They'll have to nonsuit 'em all," said

the captain.

While waiting for the second case to be called the war lord of Deestrick Lake Michigan said he was planning a bigger drink emporium for the "deestrick.""Yes, sir, she starts next week," he said. "A two story brick, 60x125 foot, big enough for all the glory and hallelujah likely to come our way.""How about a building permit?"
"Who'd I ask a buildin' permit from?"I'd come up to my window, belike, and say,
"Cap Streeter, kin I have a buildin' permit?" And then I'd run around inside quick and say, "Bless your heart, Cap, you shore kin."The captain ceased talking like a Folies advertisement to greet two constable policemen, who asked, respectfully, and mumbled something about putting him under arrest.The captain was taken to the East Chicago station on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. He was later released on $400 bonds.

as a slightly deaf admirer of nature and to pay no attention to the warning bell of the sentinels. The plan worked until one bullet struck and killed the horse, another splintered the box of the buggy, and a third bounced off the top button of the captain's coat. Then he also conducted a more or less masterly retreat.A detective or two and a couple of laymen also ventured out beyond the lines and were either beaten up or driven off at the point of a rifle.News of all these skirmishes were taken to the main body of the official army, by this time assembled in vast columns on Superior street. It was plain that the "Cap" and his cohorts were meant business. To attack their entrenchments meant that half a dozen officers at least would probably bite the dust. Volunteers were called for to head the first line of battle.On the coast the smoke of Admiral Fyfe's battleships was in sight.

T'WAS A FAMOUS VICTORY—FOR ONE.

The situation was tense and exciting.
Then a mere sparrow cop from Lincoln park, by name "Bill" Hayes, had to come along and spoil it all. Twirling his club, he said to the "Cap" and his cohorts:
"General, you're standing behind the breast-works. When a rifle was leveled at his head, "Bill" Hayes grinned.

"Aw, cut it out," he drawled.

The governor of the state acted as if he were hypnotized. He lowered his moustache.
"Say, you guys have made good on this thing," Hayes went on. "You said you were going to take possession and you've done it. What's the use of going any further? Come on, now, and take a stroll with me before anybody gets hurt."

"Pinches" Whole Army.

They came, the whole eleven, with Miles at their head. Hayes leaped over to where the army was still holding for volunteers, and said: "I've just pinched these guys." With that he turned them over to his commanding officer.What would have happened if old
"Cap" Streeter and the dastardly Maria had met on the field of action? One can only surmise. Neither of them was ever quick to surrender.When the "Cap" heard of the inglorious end of the battle he denied that he had anything to do with the affair."Miles and his men," he said, "were acting solely on their own responsibility."

Evidence of Illegal Acts by Directors Within Three Years Is Introduced.New York, Nov. 9.—For the first time since the taking of the former directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad began nearly four weeks ago, attorneys for the government placed before the jury today evidence of acts committed by the defendants within the three year period of the statute of limitations, which began in 1912. This had to do with alleged efforts of the New Haven to make absolute, through the acquisition of the Central New England railway.All testimony previously introduced, dating back to 1890, the year of the enactment of the Sherman law, which the defendants are accused of violating, has been designed to prove that a conspiracy to monopolize the transportation traffic of New England existed prior to the three year period.Howard Elliott, chairman of the New Haven board and president of the company, was recalled today.

by Putting Modern Methods in Factories

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

When France heard the call for greater
and still greater supplies of munitions
for its armies in the field it was to America and to Chicago that it came for a certain American who would cross the water and furnish much needed assistance no less important than that furnished to the struggling American colonists by the Marquis Lafayette.This man who has repaid, partially at least, the debt of all Americans to one high spirited Frenchman has returned to his work in Chicago. He is William F.
Carmody, foreman of the Felt & Tarrant
Manufacturing company, at 1717 North
Paulina street.He sits at a table on the fourth floor
of the big machine plant and inspects
small pieces of tool work whose dimensions must be accurate to the thousandth
part of an inch. His knowledge and experience with the installation and operation of the modern screw machine has made him a recognized expert.French munition plants to conform with American methods of efficiency, the screw machine manufacturers even went out side their own plants and recommended
Carmody.Carmody's salary at the Felt & Tarrant
plant is nothing small, but the compensation which the French government offered for his services doubled it several times and then some. He obtained a fur-tough and sailed last April.In the company of French army officials and engineers he was rushed from one munition plant to another. He found antiquated time-consuming machinery being worked night and day, but only producing an output far below the demand.Some French screw machines needed
two and three men each to operate them.
Carmody began to demonstrate the superiority of the American machine, five
of which could be tended by one man.
The installation of the American machines resulted in the saving of thousands of dollars' worth of time and material.
In the end, the French were landed in France.In Paris he installed sixty of the machines in two plants, both of which had been making automobile parts before the war. He directed changes in the application of power in other plants to the increase of efficiency and output.In Marseilles he placed seventy-five of the American machines and transformed
one plant that had been making motors
at St. Bakers machines into a shrapnel factory. In St. Chamond, Orléans, and elsewhere he replaced the methods of 1870 with up to the minute American efficiency, and increased the output tenfold.Carmody returned to Chicago last month, his work abroad finished. Letters bearing the appreciation of the French people preceded him. Carmody is modest about his work, and refuses to talk about it. Not so with his friends, who tell the story of one enthusiastic French patriot who kissed the American machine man as he was leaving Paris and fervently declared:

"You have saved France."

Doer E. Felt, president of the manufacturing company, is Carmody's employer,
although the two work together like fellow employees. The manufacturer is one of the few who has refused numerous large offers to conform his plant and make munitions or the tools for the manufacture of munitions."We're neutral," said Mr. Felt. "Our organization is world-wide. The men from our Berlin office are fighting in the German trenches. In northern France
and Flanders they are opposed by men
from our offices in London and Paris.
Some of our Italian employees are with their nation's forces at the front, and likewise the workers in our Petrograd office are fighting with the Russians.""We make adding machines, but we can make munitions. We are ready and willing at any time to transform our plant and start turning out ammunition
by the ton, but for Uncle Sam only—Carmody."And the man who "saved France" answered "You bet."BOARD OF TRADE CUTS OFF

by Putting Modern Methods in Factories

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

When France heard the call for greater
and still greater supplies of munitions
for its armies in the field it was to America and to Chicago that it came for a certain American who would cross the water and furnish much needed assistance no less important than that furnished to the struggling American colonists by the Marquis Lafayette.This man who has repaid, partially at least, the debt of all Americans to one
high spirited Frenchman has returned to his work in Chicago. He is William F.
Carmody, foreman of the Felt & Tarrant
Manufacturing company, at 1717 North
Paulina street.He sits at a table on the fourth floor
of the big machine plant and inspects
small pieces of tool work whose dimensions must be accurate to the thousandth
part of an inch. His knowledge and experience with the installation and operation of the modern screw machine has made him a recognized expert.French munition plants to conform with American methods of efficiency, the screw
machine manufacturers even went out side their own plants and recommended
Carmody.Carmody's salary at the Felt & Tarrant
plant is nothing small, but the compensation which the French government offered for his services doubled it several times and then some. He obtained a fur-
tough and sailed last April.In the company of French army officials and engineers he was rushed from one munition plant to another. He found antiquated time-consuming machinery being
worked night and day, but only producing an output far below the demand.Some French screw machines needed
two and three men each to operate them.
Carmody began to demonstrate the superiority of the American machine, five
of which could be tended by one man.
The installation of the American machines resulted in the saving of thousands of dollars' worth of time and material.
In the end, the French were landed in France.In Paris he installed sixty of the machines in two plants, both of which had been making automobile parts before the
war. He directed changes in the application of power in other plants to the increase of efficiency and output.In Marseilles he placed seventy-five of the American machines and transformed
one plant that had been making motors
at St. Bakers machines into a shrapnel factory. In St. Chamond, Orléans, and elsewhere he replaced the methods of 1870 with up to the minute American efficiency, and increased the output tenfold.Carmody returned to Chicago last month, his work abroad finished. Letters
bearing the appreciation of the French people preceded him. Carmody is modest about his work, and refuses to talk about it. Not so with his friends, who tell the story of one enthusiastic French
patriot who kissed the American machine man as he was leaving Paris and fer-
vently declared:

"You have saved France."

Doer E. Felt, president of the manufacturing company, is Carmody's employer,
although the two work together like fellow employees. The manufacturer is one of the few who has refused numerous large offers to conform his plant and make
munitions or the tools for the manufacture of munitions."We're neutral," said Mr. Felt. "Our organization is world-wide. The men
from our Berlin office are fighting in the German trenches. In northern France
and Flanders they are opposed by men
from our offices in London and Paris.
Some of our Italian employees are with their nation's forces at the front, and
likewise the workers in our Petrograd
office are fighting with the Russians.""We make adding machines, but we can make munitions. We are ready and willing at any time to transform our
plant and start turning out ammunition
by the ton, but for Uncle Sam only—Carmody."And the man who "saved France" answered "You bet."BOARD OF TRADE CUTS OFF
GRAIN QUOTATIONS IN EAST.Chicago Exchange Discontinues Service to New York Institution
—Objects to Certain Practices.The Chicago board of trade has cut off the grain quotations from the New York consolidated stock exchange. The action was said to have been taken by the market report committee of the board of trade and approved by the directors.Officers of the board of trade were not inclined to give any particulars in regard to the matter last night, but admitted that the quotations had been stopped. It was intimated that the action was the result of complaints in regard to the exchange's handling of the consolidated stock exchange has been using the quotations.In connection with the New York stock exchange, the Chicago board of trade has been waging a successful campaign against budget shops.All the big budget shop systems doing interstate business have been eliminated.
Some local budget shops, however, continue to exist, and it is possible, it is said, they have been getting quotations through connections on the consolidated exchange.This is the second time in the last few years that the Chicago grain quotations have been cut off from the consolidated exchange. A few years ago they were cut off on account of alleged budget shop affiliations in regard to the exchange.
The consolidated exchange houses, but they were reinstated on promise of future good behavior.There is no regular trading in grains on the consolidated exchange, as there is on the Chicago board of trade and

FURTHER BREAK IN WHEAT MARKET

World's Stocks Show a Big Gain; Receipts Heavy; May Corn Strong.

Continued big receipts both in the northwest and at winter wheat markets took the edge off the wheat market yesterday and prices were lower. Sellers by local and outside easily caused congestion. There were several sharp rallies during the day, but on the other hand the advances are met by free selling. Final prices were 10 to 15¢ lower.

The cash demand was slow here, but at Duluth mills and exporters were good buyers, and the seaboard took 500,000 bu., mostly Manitoba. Kansas City cash prices were lower. Offerings of winter wheat continue liberal. Omaha reported cash prices unchanged to 3¢ lower. No. 4 wheat at Omaha is selling at about 90¢. Weather conditions were still favorable in most sections. The winter wheat is now in need of rain. Showers were indicated for the northwest.

World's Stocks Increase. World's stocks increased 17,000,000 bu. for the week, bringing total stock to 183,000,000 bu., or nearly as much as a year ago. The European visible increased 4,000,000 bu. for the week, and is now about 14,000,000 bu. more than a year ago. Wheat had 1,600 cars, against 425 cars a year ago. Private reports indicate arrival in western Canada of 310,000,000 to 350,000,000 bu. Threshing is still active in sections, as the immediate amount of grain to be threshed has made it impossible to finish, although weather conditions have been ideal.

Northwest receipts were 1,381 cars, compared to 1,277 cars a year ago. Receipts here were 212 cars, and primary receipts were 3,430,000 bu., compared to 2,810,000 bu. a year ago. Clearances were liberal, 1,850,000 bu. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 300,000 bu. for three days, and Duluth nearly 1,000,000 bu. for two days.

Argentine News Unfavorable. Argentine news was less favorable. Late reports indicate the crop suffered more from the early drought than was supposed. Estimates are expected to be reduced. Cattle were 10 lower. Seeding reports from France were bullish, and in Germany and Russia work has been curtailed, owing to unusually cold weather. Germany and Austria are buying considerable wheat in Bulgaria and Roumania. Indian reports are favorable.

Armour was credited with buying wheat on the break, and there was buying also by Canby, Slaughter, Lamm, Clement-Curtis, and Logan-Bryan. Knight-McDougal, Ware-Leland, and Barrell sold December early. Sales to go to store were 80,000 bu.

Armour Buys May Corn. Corn prices were 1/2¢ higher for the May and a shade lower for the December at the finish. Armour was credited with buying the May and December contracts, and this was largely responsible for the widening of the spread. Cash corn was steady to 1/4¢ lower, with industries fair buyers of the new corn. Offerings were fair, and there was also a good shipping demand, sales being 250,000 bu., including 50,000 bu. for export. Cattle were unchanged to 1¢ lower.

Weather conditions generally were favorable. Iowa reports were bullish, but other sections reported less. Receipts were 123 cars, with 650,000 bu. in the west, compared to 743,000 bu. a year ago. Country advices indicate moderate marketing at stations. Clearances were 8,000 bu.

Oats Prices Hold Steady. Oats were unchanged to 1/2¢ lower. Offerings were fair, but there was good buying. Anderson & Co. buying about 750,000 bu. December. Arnot was a big seller of December. General trade was fair. There were reports of 250,000 bu. of oats sold from the seaboard and there were local sales of 250,000 bu., including 250,000 bu. for export.

Receipts were 423 cars, and primary receipts had 1,000,000 bu., against 1,130,000 bu. a year ago. Clearances were 500,000 bu. Private estimates place the Canadian oats crop at 400,000,000 bu., with the movement delayed by the immense labor involved in marketing the unprecedented wheat crop.

Hog Products Are Lower. Hog products followed a sharp break in prices at the yards and closed lower throughout the list. Receipts of hogs were 33,000, with 35,000 estimated for the day. Prices at the yards were 50¢ to 55¢ lower, with a large percentage of pigs in the receipts. Farmers appear to be marketing much young stock.

The cash trade is fair. Packers were credited with selling products. Receipts of hogs in the west were 123,000, compared to 71,000 a year ago. Primary receipts were 520,000, against 400,000 last week and 607,000 a year ago.

Rye Taken for Export. Rye was 1¢ lower. No. 2 sold $1.00; No. 3, 95¢; No. 4, 90¢; and sample grade, 85¢. Sales of 25,000 bu. were reported for export. Receipts, 35 cars. Barley ruled steady, with sales of 50¢ to 55¢. Malt to arrive sold at 60¢. Receipts, 111 cars.

Timothy seed was steady. March selling at $5.75; cash lots quoted at $5.00 to $5.25. Cloverseed unchanged, with cash lots, $10.00 to $10.25. Duluth cash closed 50¢ to 55¢. Cash on track, $2.00 to $2.15; November, $2.05; December, $2.05; and May, $2.05. Receipts, 91 cars. Minneapolis was 7¢ higher, with cash on track, $1.95 to $2.05. Receipts were 52 cars. Winnipeg closed 4¢ to 5¢ higher; November, $1.85; December, $1.75; and May, $1.65. Receipts, 27 cars.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS. LONDON, Nov. 9.—Money and discount rates were quiet and steady today. American exchange weakened, but closed firm at 100. The stock market maintained a good undertone and business was active in the investment section in colonial and short term issues. Some rails, however, were active. The amount of stock being taken up is estimated as to be more than the amount of new issues coming forward. The reason for the increase is mainly attributed to the present low level of values and partly to the fact of new issues being placed in the market. The feature in the American section was Canadian Pacific, which advanced sharply on improved earnings reports. The rest of the 7 1/8% bond market was quiet and closed steady. Bar silver, 75¢ to 76¢ per ounce. Money, 5 1/2% to 5 3/4% per cent. Discount rate, 5 1/2% per cent. FARM, Nov. 9.—The market for hogs was quiet today. Receipts, 602. Exchange on London, 27 1/2¢.

COFFEE AND SUGAR. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 2 to 7 points and sold about 5 to 8 points higher during the early trading on foreign buying.

GOOSE ISLAND TO HAVE STEEL ERECTOR COMPANY BUYS HALF BLOCK AND WILL BUILD BIG ESTABLISHMENT.

A big deal in manufacturing property on Goose Island, involving the erection of buildings to cost over $200,000 and a series of stone leases in the downtown district featured yesterday's real estate market news.

The Goose Island transaction was the purchase by the Excelsior Steel Furnace company, manufacturers of heating specialties, from the Barrett Manufacturing company of half of the block bounded by Division, Rees, Hooker, and Hickory streets. The tract, which is "L" shaped, has a frontage of 300 feet in Rees street 365 feet in Hooker street, and 135 feet in Hickory street, and contains 65,000 square feet.

Consideration $75,000. It has old frame improvements, given no value in the transaction, and the property was sold for an indicated consideration of $75,000, which is at the rate of $1.16 a square foot. The property formerly was occupied by the Barrett company. The remaining 35,000 square feet, at the northwest corner of Division and Hooker streets, was not included in the purchase.

The work of constructing the first unit of the proposed new plant will begin soon, the purpose being to have it ready for occupancy next fall. Hodge & Chandler were the brokers for the transaction. The property is being sold by the seller and John A. Brown for the purchaser.

Served by the St. Paul. The desirability of the property for manufacturing purposes is indicated by the statement that it was selected by the purchasing company after an examination of a number of other properties. It is one and a half miles north of Madison street, two blocks west of Hooker street, and is served by two Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul switch tracks of fourteen cars capacity, one being in Rees street and the other in Hooker street.

The purchasing company, which has branches or warehouses in ten other cities, has been at Canal and Monroe streets for many years. This is in the heart of the district most affected by the new railroad terminal work, but under the terms of its recent settlement with the Union Station company a vacation of the three buildings in new occupies need not occur before May 1, 1917.

Big Building Lease. E. F. Keebler & Co. in connection with Francis Manierre, have just closed an important lease in the new Elger building, in which they have taken other leases. To David A. Schulte of New York City the corner store in the building, southwest corner of Randolph and Dearborn streets, for ten years from Jan. 1 next at a term rent of $80,000.

The store fronts 14 1/2 feet on Randolph and 10 feet 7 inches on Dearborn street, and a total area of 288 square feet, making the lease at the rate of $27.13 a square foot. Mr. Schulte operates forty-eight cigar stores in New York City and Brooklyn and will open up a chain of stores in Chicago.

Rents Boulevard Shop. He also has leased through Keebler & Co. from David Mayer for five years from Jan. 1 the store at 168 West Jackson boulevard at a term rent of $15,000, also from Mayer and the latter a five-year lease on the corner store at 168 West Jackson boulevard at a term rent of $40,000; from the estate of L. Z. Leiter a store, 17 1/2 feet, southwest corner Clark and Madison streets, for five years, at a term rent of $30,000; from the estate of L. Z. Leiter a store, 17 1/2 feet, southwest corner Clark and Madison streets, for five years, at a term rent of $30,000; from the estate of L. Z. Leiter a store, 17 1/2 feet, southwest corner Clark and Madison streets, for five years, at a term rent of $30,000.

Mr. Schulte also has purchased from the Schermerhorn Cigar company the store at the northeast corner of Dearborn and Washington streets, also the store facing Clark street in the Ashland block, the store at the southeast corner of Clark and South Water streets, and the store at the northwest corner of Lake and Dearborn streets. The rent for the stores purchased is $10,000 a year. An active demand is reported by Keebler & Co. for space in the new Elger building.

Flat Building Sold. Solomon Sabel has sold to Henry C. Plets the eighteen apartment building at the northeast corner of Sixty-fifth street and Drexel avenue for a reported consideration of $70,000, subject to an incumbrance of $40,000. The property subsequently was leased to Eric A. Larson for the same consideration, subject to $60,000 incumbrance. In part payment Mr. Larson conveyed the twelve flat building at 404-36 Woodlawn avenue and adjoining property for a reported consideration of $25,000. Krause, Reak & Co. and George J. Jank & Co. were the brokers. White & Taylor have sold for Dr. Louis B. Deaser and George S. Lurie to Dr. Theodore F. Fox the property at 2021 West North avenue, improved with a two-story frame store and flat building, for an indicated consideration of $14,000, subject to an incumbrance of $5,000. The purchaser conveyed 120 feet of vacant West Chicago avenue, valued at $5,000. George S. Lurie & Co. were connected with the deal.

Kedzie Boulevard Sale. Edwin Carson, the building contractor, conveyed to Mrs. Bertha Cohen the six flat building at 2231-40 North Kedzie boulevard, lot 40x125 feet, for an indicated consideration of $25,000 cash. Herman H. Bismore & Co. were the brokers. The property at 1037-39 North Crawford avenue, lot 40x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by J. P. Ryan to Henry Newman for an indicated consideration of $22,500, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

Congressman Fred A. Britton, who talked on his recent trip through the Philippines at the weekly luncheon of the Cook county real estate board yesterday, illustrating it with stereopticon views, declared the Filipinos would not be ready for independence in ten to twenty-five years, and that before it was wanted that at that time the situation should be carefully investigated.

Hundreds of Smart Hats for Street and Dress Wear

At the Season's Lowest Prices—

Presented in a Great Selling Event Commencing This Morning.

Our large Millinery business makes it necessary for us to carry tremendous stocks and also to provide an almost endless variety of styles for our thousands of patrons.

It is our policy to clear our stocks of trimmed Millinery at frequent intervals so that our displays may represent continually the most desirable, up-to-the-minute styles.

One of these important clearances begins this morning, and will continue until the thousand or more Hats marked for disposal have been sold. We also include in this event about five hundred Hats, fresh from our workrooms—made from short lengths of velvets, plushes, metallic laces, with choice flower and feather trimmings.

Variety and charm can be introduced into the wardrobe by a number of Hats—and in an event of this sort one can make one's money go so much further than under ordinary circumstances.

Prices $5.00 and up.

A Limited Number of Hats at Less Than $5

We urge every woman to see them—Street and Dress Hats are included—trimmed with flowers, ostrich feathers, chic wings, pompons, and novelties.

THE FRENCH ROOM,
ENGLISH ROOM,
MODERATELY PRICED
DRESS HAT SECTION,

AND THE MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

Already We Offer Splendid Opportunity for Gift Selection from

These Beautiful Collections of Gift Jewelry

CHRISTMAS is not too far off to begin plans which are to be carried out in a leisurely and painstaking way.

The Christmas stocks of this store are already prominent in its daily displays and none are more conspicuous among them than these new collections of gift jewelry.

Of Special Interest—

Real Shell Cameo Brooches at $5, $6.50, $7.50
Included are many beautifully carved heads and the mountings are of 10-karat gold, neatly engraved. There are three sizes and the values are unusual at $5, $6.50 and $7.50.

Real Coral Cameo Rings, $2.95 to $7.50

There are over one hundred rings in this collection and there does not seem to be any two alike. Many are beautifully carved heads and the coral is of a very delicate shade.

These are all mounted in heavy 10-karat plain gold and are priced according to size at $2.95, $3.50, $5, $6, $6.50 and $7.50.

Diamond Lavallieres at Much Less Than the Usual Price—$5

These lavallieres are especially pleasing in design. Each diamond is set in platinum encircled with onyx. The mounting is 10-karat solid gold and most of these lavallieres have a very fine baroque pearl drop. $5.

Remember, this is the logical store for those who wish to express refinement in the gifts they give.
